LONDON, Nov. 29—British military authorities said today that three enemy pockets still are holding out in the Sidi Omar area of the Libyan front near the Egyptian border.

CAIRO, Nov. 29—All British preparations for perhaps the decisive and final battle of the Libyan campaign were reported complete today as the British widened the wedge driven by New Zealand forces in the axis lines at Ed Duda, south of Tobruk.

The New Zealanders who fought their way to Ed Duda and there formed a junction with forces of the British garrison from Tobruk were declared to have staged a continuous non-stop advance that covered a period of eight hours.

This combined force, according to reports from the battle zone, struck directly at the heart of the axis forces commanded by Gen. Erwin Rommel west of Tobruk and Sidi Rezegh, the strategic pivotal keypoint which the British imperial forces seized earlier in the week.

Zero Hour Near

As the combined New Zealand and British force advanced, all reports indicated the zero hour for a decisive clash was drawing near.

(Editor's Note: A Berlin radio broadcast picked up by NBC said "positions in the gigantic tank battle in Libya are apt to change very rapidly."

("While the British armored units have the advantage of moving more or less as a unit and in one direction, Gen. Rommel has the difficult task of shifting his tanks very quickly from several points which have little communication with each other, to new positions. In view of this strategic disadvantage, one cannot at present draw any final conclusion as to the final outcome of this great and violent battle.")

Meanwhile, the German column which had attacked earlier along the Egyptian frontier was reported to have been broken up and rolled back.

Italian Unit Eliminated

A military spokesman also said that virtually the entire Italian Bologna division which had covered the east end of the Tobruk perimeter had been eliminated. He said the British were forging ahead southeast of the port.

The British Mediterranean fleet simultaneously reported it

BRUCE SMITH VOTED AS OUTSTANDING '41 STAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 — Bruce Smith today was designated as the outstanding college football player of 1941.

The fleet University of Minnesota captain was selected in a poll of sports writers and broadcasters and will receive the Heisman Memorial Trophy, presented annually by the Downtown Athletic Club of New York.

Smith received 554 votes for the honor, only nine more than Angelo Bertelli of Notre Dame.

Bill Prince, chairman of the committee in charge of the award, said the voting was closest in history of the Heisman trophy. Next in line were Frankie Albert of Stanford and Frank Sinkwich of Georgia.

Others among the first ten included Bill Dudley of Virginia, Endicott Peabody II of Harvard, Special Delivery Jones of Pittsburgh, Bob Westfall of Michigan, Steve Lach of Duke and Jack Crain of Texas.

Smith will receive the Heisman Trophy December 9 in ceremonies at the Downtown A. C.

"UNQUESTIONABLE DEVOTION"

By Rev. S. N. Root
Text Luke 5:5. And Simon answering said unto him, "Master, we have toiled all the night, and have taken nothing; Nevertheless, at thy word I will let down the net."

Let us consider here what Christ was asking. Peter with his fellow fishermen had just returned from fishing all night and were washing their nets. Jesus now asks them to "Launch out into the deep and let down their nets in a draught."

This looked unreasonable. Had they not been doing just that very thing for hours, without success? Had they not been scouring the sea to and fro, through the long weary hours of the night? Those disciples were expert fishermen, and knew all the science of their craft, they knew that if the hours of darkness had yielded nothing there was not the least chance of a catch now when the waters were glittering in the morning sun. What could Jesus be meaning? "Master, we have toiled all the night, and have taken nothing!"

So many of us today, are not like Peter, we can not get beyond that. We would try to form an excuse, or talk him out of it; our devotion often depends upon whether the conditions are in our favor. It is surprising how nineteen drops of rain will keep twenty people away from a church service.

Look at the world. We have toiled all night to reconstruct it on the basis of freedom and brotherhood, international honor and safety and freedom of democracy, just as the writer and many of you thought twenty-three years ago when we were serving our country. But after all that, the same old enemy and the iron age of blood and barbarism returns.

Look at the Church. We have toiled all night for a revival of religion as in the day of Pentecost, toiled for the fire of the Gospel running through the earth to burn up all our hampering divisions, formalities, selfishness, and second hand loyalties in a great flame of fellowship in Christ. But oh, how the vision terries how remote the dream.

Look at our own hearts. We have toiled all night to drive our own lives straight, through the tangles of this tempting world, to build a character that will stand the storms of life, character that would stand the test, secure and resolute, but what have we to show for it after all the toil? The same old disappointments, the same weak yielding before hectoring voices of besetting sin, the same old monotony of defeat. No, many of us can't get beyond that.

But listen to the apostle Peter. "Master, we have toiled all the night, and have taken nothing; nevertheless, at thy word I will let down the net."

"Nevertheless"—and Peter as I see him was on his feet, voice ringing and eyes shining, "Nevertheless"—"At thy word I will let down the net." No matter if the advice seemed completely unreasonable, no matter if all his fisherman lure was dead against it; it was the word of Jesus, nothing could compare with that.

"Nevertheless." Can we look into the eyes of Christ our Lord and say the same, when His command interferes with our plans and career? Facing all these trials, difficulties and disrupted plans can we say "Nevertheless" "I will let down the net" for a draught. Peter did; Jesus did, as he prayed in Gethsemane. "Nevertheless, not my will but Thine be done." Luke 22:42. Paul, facing his desperate condition, said, "Nevertheless God." 2nd Cor. 7:6.

The man of faith, is the man who can cancel all that out with one ringing, decisive "Nevertheless." The man who encountering the most stubborn facts, can stand before his God and say, "let the world say what it will, let all human wisdom mass its arguments and reasons; "Nevertheless, at Thy word." Oh-sir—give Christ Our Lord a faith like that, and any undreamt, stupendous miracle might happen even today.

WHAT IT'S ABOUT

THE purpose of the army we're training is, of course, military defense. But it needn't be confined entirely to that field. One of the most inspiring things about the whole performance is the educational program undertaken by Lieut. Gen. Benjamin Lear for 125,000 officers and men of the Second Army.

It will run through a period of three months. Subjects included will be American history, geography, international trade, the United States Constitution, various political systems compared with our own, and the international conditions leading up to the present war. There will not be anything superficial about this instruction, either. The teaching will be done by college graduates with college teaching experience, some of them now in the army and other borrowed from civil life. Among them are Yale professors who will serve without pay.

If this experiment is judged successful the program will be followed by the rest of the army. It is hard to think of any reason why it shouldn't be successful. The only strange thing about it is that the plan has never been tried before in the American army.

The Russians have long had such instruction. There are said to be no Russian soldiers who have not been taught the history of their country and the principles of their government. Likewise with the Germans. Americans do not want the propaganda handed out in those countries, but every American soldier should know enough about his country to realize what he is expected to be fighting for.

CHRISTMAS-SEALING T. B.

THERE is an interesting and true story behind the 1941 Christmas Seals. The lighthouse pictured on them is a symbol of protection. The artist who designed it, Steven Dohanos, was once a victim of tuberculosis. Prompt diagnosis of his case gave hope of cure. He followed the prescribed treatment faithfully, resisting the temptation now and then to return to work too soon. Eventually he was completely well and strong enough to do a normal amount of work and enjoy other normal activities.

Lighthouses are built to warn or guide ships and airplanes. They would fail of their purpose if pilots ignore them. Medical science has learned much about tuberculosis and has put up lighthouses for the guidance of all the people.

"There need be no deaths at all from tuberculosis in this country," says John J. O'Neill, science writer for the New York Herald Tribune. "Thirty years ago one

HODGE-PODGE REPORT

WASHINGTON — The five members of Emergency Railroad Board ran headlong into some surprises when they called on the President before making another attempt to solve the wage dispute which threatens to tie up all the railroads of the country.

One surprise was that Roosevelt knew all about their closely guarded secret. This secret was that their original report, adamantly rejected by the Brotherhoods, was a last-minute compromise and that none of the mediators really approved of it. In fact that only agreed to it at the last minute to avoid a split decision.

Another surprise was that the President knew how bitterly the mediators had wrangled among themselves.

Most of the mediators were professors: Thomas Reed Powell of Harvard Law School; Walter L. Morse, dean of Oregon University Law School; James C. Bonbright of Columbia University; Joseph H. Willits, Rockefeller Foundation; and Houston Thompson, Washington attorney and ex-chairman of the Federal Trade Commission.

Despite the scholarly positions of the conferees, however, the atmosphere was anything but calm and cloistered. At one time the professors were so hot under the collar that several of them almost came to blows.

The Railroad Brotherhoods knew all about this squabbling, and this was one of the big reasons for rejecting the report. The Brotherhoods also saw to it that Roosevelt learned about the dissension.

According to the information given to him, the board battled through the whole night before a reluctant compromise report was agreed on. That agreement was not reached until 8 a. m., the deadline when the report had to be in the hands of the printer.

One time during the night-long wrangle one of the mediators snapped, "Well, it looks like it's aspirin, coffee or liquor, depending on your taste."

Throughout the battle, Prof. Morse, chairman of the board, pleaded with his colleagues for a unanimous report. He warned that a dissent would be worse than no report at all. In the end his advice won, and the hodge-podge compromise was put together.

UNWANTED COMPROMISE

The root of the Brotherhoods' unyielding opposition to the wage recommendations was the wide disparity in the bases for the proposed increases.

The board gave the so-called non-operating employees a flat boost of nine cents an hour. But when it came to the operating groups the board switched to a 7 1/2 percent increase. This meant only about 5 cents an hour increase for lower-paid person died every three and a half minutes. This figure has been cut to eight and a half minutes now. The disease has dropped from first to seventh place as a cause of death in the last seven years."

Much of that progress has been financed by the Christmas Seal money. Whether you buy only one stamp or a hundred, you will help to seal the doom of T. B.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . . Hour by Hour

PAGES FROM THE DIARY OF AN ANTIQUATED REPORTER:

Out and about the village on another morning of bright sunshine and temperature too high for this time of year, but welcome nevertheless. Gazed in pride at the holiday decorations. That Court and Main effect has no equal that I know about. Saw Charlie Gilmore looking it over and asked him about the new power company sign. Said Santa should deliver it before Christmas. Quite a fine present for the time.

Sniffled a little as a result of trying to sit out the basketball game at the C. A. C. Unfortunately that the gas connections could not be made in time, but heat will be there for the next game. Chatted with Coach Black at the game until I was frozen out and did learn that he feels the Tiger grid aggregation next year should make a good showing. Several difficult spots to fill in the center of the line.

There goes Wallace Crist entirely unaware of my full knowledge of his hunting prowess.

Clark Hunsicker told me how Wallace hunted his farm. There sat a fine big rabbit. Wallace said he would shoot off its head. He fired; the rabbit ran. Wallace fired again. The rabbit still ran. Wallace fired a third time and the rabbit stumbled and fell, but got up and continued running. Wallace also ran and finally caught the bunny. Wallace says his shot hit the rabbit. Clark contends the rabbit sprained an ankle when it stumbled.

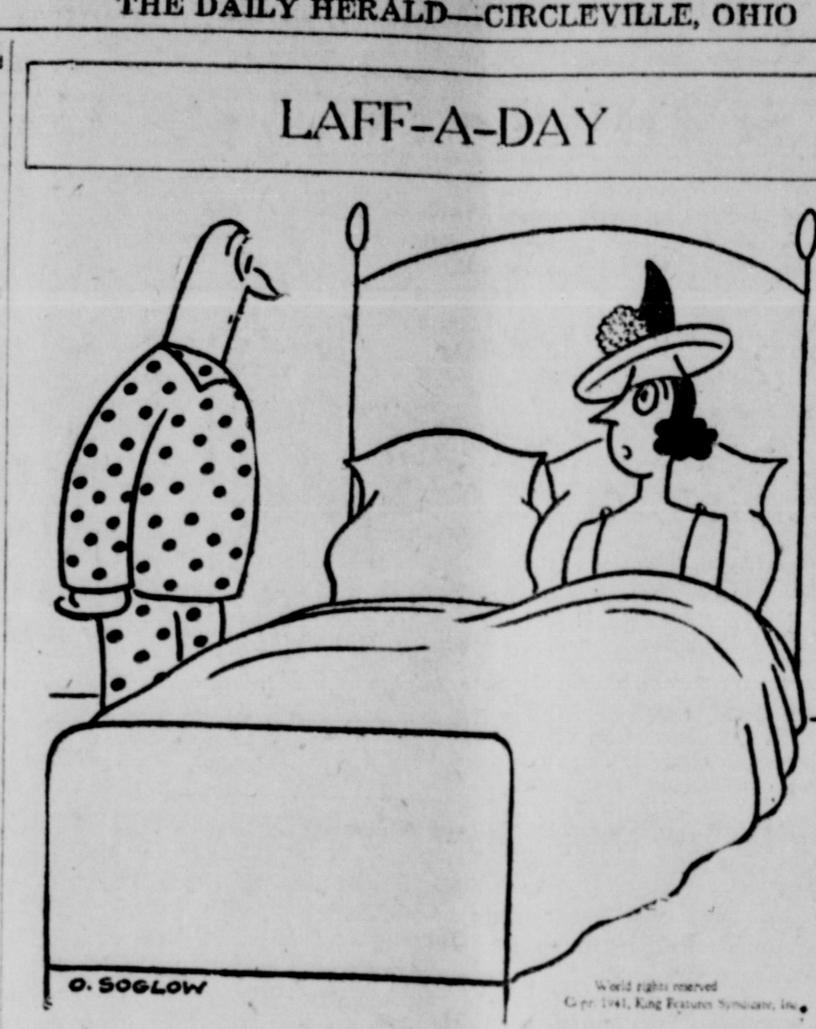

Drove past the old Catholic school and applauded the work going on there. A real youth center that will be when completed. Church members have just voted $7,000 to be spent for interior repair and decoration and more later will be spent for equipment. Not for Catholic youngsters alone, either. Understand that all kids will be welcome. Yes, quite an undertaking for one church. The entire town couldn't raise enough money to save the C. A. C. as an athletic center.

Downtown in the evening to see the parade marking the opening of the Christmas holiday season. Quite an event, I think. What I could see of it was fine. These dark streets of ours are a disgrace. If Santa Claus could consider a present for a municipality he might bring us some lights. When all the show window lights are turned off Main and Court Streets are as dark as a trail through deep woods.

And, speaking of show windows, reminds me to remind you that they are crammed with the kind of merchandise you buy at this time of year. Presents for everyone and plenty for yourself as well. While prices generally have been moving upward for a long time much of the merchandise on display now is as reasonably priced as last year. Take a good look around town at your earliest convenience, and get that Christmas shopping underway. Most merchants say that the picking may be pretty slim for the late shoppers this season. And that is the truth.

Colitis, Disease of Civilization

large bowel. Irritable colon is sometimes called colitis, mucous colitis, spastic bowel, spastic constipation.

It is a disease of civilization and especially of highly industrialized civilization. Today few succeed in a business or profession without "living it." The successful man takes his occupation to the dinner table with him, takes it to the concert and frequently works out knotty problems while wide-eyed in bed at 2:00 A. M. The modern sales manager is urged by his superiors to keep up his sales and he in turn must urge his assistants, often against his will, to work under terrific pressure.

The diet should be free from irritating foods and low in residue.

Fruit, vegetables and milk should be avoided at the start. After improvement has occurred, they may be added.

Heat relieves spasm, and a hot bath and one or two glasses of hot water containing a little soda or lemon juice on arising are frequently of benefit.

The physician who approaches this problem with sympathy, understanding and the willingness to spend time and thought on the patient can make happy, useful citizens of those with irritable colon.—John M. Rumsey.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

• E. D., Detroit, Mich.—Does it necessarily mean that a young person in the early twenties has sugar diabetes if a small amount of sugar shows in the urine?

Answer: In most cases it can be assumed that in a person of this age, the finding of a trace of sugar in the urine means diabetes. It is much more dangerous to kid yourself along than it is to undergo treatment right away. At any rate the condition should be thoroughly investigated. The sure way is to take a blood sugar tolerance test which can be given by any doctor in practice.

The symptoms of the irritable bowel come from spasms or distension. All too often, with the dull sense of fullness and aching, the patient gets the idea that he should clean the bowel out daily and gets into the cathartic habit.

This simply adds to his troubles and makes his sense of fullness worse and his irritable colon more irritable.

Hundreds Enjoy Parade Opening Circleville Christmas Season

LUTHERAN FLOAT JUDGED WINNER IN COMPETITION

Five Others Participate
In Big Procession That
Features Santa

They cheered and crowded into the streets, stood on the bumpers of automobiles or wiggled their way to a spot where they could see—those many hundred boys and girls who came to witness Circleville's Christmas parade Friday night.

Streets were decorated in their usual Yuletide fashion and the downtown store windows looked as though Santa Claus already had stopped in Circleville.

Feature of Friday night's program was the Christmas parade, which formed on Court Street in front of the high school building and moved into the downtown area. Six amateur floats, three musical units and a sizable delegation of costumed individuals were included. Circleville's High School band led the parade followed by Santa Claus, who rode on the side of a big red truck. The floats, the Chillicothe Veterans of Foreign Wars Junior Drum Corps, the Circleville Junior band and costumed boys and girls followed.

The floats were judged at Court and High Streets immediately after the parade. Top honors went to Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood and the Luther League, whose float, depicting "The First Noel," was pulled by a team of oxen. The oxen are owned by John Drelsbach of Circleville Route 1. They are seven years old and came from Vinton County. The two of them weigh 2,700 pounds. The float portrayed the birth of Christ with a donkey, sheep and a calf included in the stable scene.

Methodist Second

Second best float in the parade was that of the Methodist Epworth League, according to the judges. The float, also portraying the birth of Christ, carried five girls, two boys and two sheep.

Third award went to the WPA Recreation Center and fourth prize to the Church of Christ in Christian Union. Two other floats, those of the Child Conservation League and Atlanta School, were entered in the competition.

Judges were R. C. Harrington, 373 West Seventh Street, Columbus; Miss Clara Karn, 405 Sycamore Avenue, Columbus, and Mrs. Marie Donaldson, 79 West Fifth Street, Columbus.

Best Santa Claus in the parade was Mrs. Ed Sensenbrenner, 806 East Mound Street, and second best was Miss Phyllis Trego, East Union Street. The best rag doll was Miss Naomi Lowery, 123 North Scioto Street. No tin soldiers were entered in the competition. Judges were George McDowell of Ashville and Mrs. Mary Morris and Mrs. A. J. Lyle, both of Circleville.

CHS Chorus Best

The Circleville High School chorus, under the direction of Miss Marjorie Vorhees, was awarded the $10 prize for the best choral group to sing on the Court House steps at the close of the program. The Circleville group sang "Joy to the World" and "Silent Night."

The Scioto Township School chorus, under the direction of Miss Eleanore Keighley, sang "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear" and "Silent Night," and the Atlanta School chorus, led by Miss Ernestine Hutchisson, sang "O Little Town of Bethlehem" and "Hark the Herald Angels Sing." Judges of the singing contest were Mrs. Ray Davis and Mrs. Melvin Kiger, both of Circleville. Karl Herrmann was in charge of the choral singing.

The crowd of youngsters was so much larger than officials had expected that no candy distribution was made. George Griffith, chairman of the Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce, said the merchants were planning to have Santa Claus on the streets in the near future and the candy distribution would be made then.

H. H. SNYDER INSTALLED BY KINGSTON VETERANS

H. H. Snyder was installed Friday evening as the first commander of Kingston Post No. 291, American Legion. The installation ceremony was in charge of State Commander Floyd S. Hartpence of Westerville.

Other officers include Leslie F. Shepler, vice-commander; E. W. Freshour, adjutant; Fred Marshall, finance officer; Dr. J. P. Gardner, chaplain; Marvin Routh, sergeant-at-arms, and O. E. Gibson, historian.

Commander James T. Shea of Howard Hall post, Circleville, and James Cook and E. C. Ebert attended the ceremony.

F. D. R. ON ALERT AS HE STARTS SOUTHERN TRIP

ABOARD PRESIDENTIAL SPECIAL EN ROUTE TO NEWMAN, Ga., Nov. 29.—President Roosevelt was followed step by step today through the south with last minute developments in the Far Eastern crisis that has placed armed forces of the United States and Japan on the alert.

If a person feels he is injured by any ceiling, he has a right to appeal to the board of review, and later, to the courts if the board does not grant his plea.

The bill sets forth maximum penalties of a $5,000 fine and two years in jail for violating the act.

PRICE CONTROL ACTION TO FACE SENATE DELAY

"Emasculated" Measure Goes Through House Without Vital Provisions

POWER RESTRICTED
Likewise, the House drastically restricted the government's power to buy and sell in the market, which Henderson said was "vital."

The House also refused to write any form of wage controls into the measure, and voted to create a five-man presidentially appointed senate-confirmed board of review with power to veto any ceilings imposed by the administrator.

As passed, the bill would establish a price administrator at $10,000 a year, appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate.

The administrator, subject to overruling by the board of review, would be empowered to place ceilings on any industrial prices or rents in defense areas which he found to be inflationary.

FARM CEILING OUT

He would not, however, be allowed to impose any ceilings on farm prices at below 110 percent of parity, the prevailing price on October 1, or the 1919-1929 average, whichever of those three alternatives was highest.

In computing ceilings for industrial prices, the administrator is directed to give "due consideration" to the price of the commodity between October 1 and 15, but he is not bound to set them as of those dates.

If a person feels he is injured by any ceiling, he has a right to appeal to the board of review, and later, to the courts if the board does not grant his plea.

The bill sets forth maximum penalties of a $5,000 fine and two years in jail for violating the act.

SCARLET FEVER CASES NUMBER SIX IN MONTH

Six cases of scarlet fever were reported to the county health office during November, according to a report submitted to the county board of health Friday afternoon by Dr. A. D. Blackburn, county health commissioner, and Miss Margaret Hunsicker, county health nurse.

All these cases were in Harrison and Madison Townships. The first case reported was a child in South Bloomfield school. Quarantine measures were taken and daily inspection of the school children was made. Several children of the school with suspicious symptoms were excluded from school, but no other cases of scarlet fever developed.

Next case of scarlet fever appeared in Ashville school. This case was quarantined and daily inspections of the children in the school made, but no new cases developed.

Three cases developed in the Madison Township school, two in one family and one in the other. Even though they were mild cases they were quarantined.

The sixth case was reported this week, the child being a brother of the first case, necessitating the re-quarantine of the family.

In the three schools where scarlet fever was reported, 12 field visits were made and about 300 children inspected.

During November four field visits were made by county health authorities for purposes of investigation, two refractions were made and one pair of glasses furnished.

In the tuberculosis program, two skin tests and two X-rays were made.

CHILLICOTHE'S RETIRED FIRE CHIEF DIES AT 79

CHILLICOTHE, Nov. 29—John H. Lewis, 79, Chillicothe's fire chief for 14 years until his retirement six years ago, died of a heart ailment. He served 33 years with the department.

Members of Columbia Lodge L.O.O.F. of Circleville enjoyed a camp dinner consisting of venison, potatoes, gravy, celery, fruit salad and coffee Friday evening when Thomas F. Clendenen of Circleville Township, who recently returned after a three week vacation hunting expedition in Quebec, Canada, served as host. Mr. Clendenen brought a four-point 175 pound deer back with him. Most of his hunting was done in the Maniwaki district.

Other officers include Leslie F. Shepler, vice-commander; E. W. Freshour, adjutant; Fred Marshall, finance officer; Dr. J. P. Gardner, chaplain; Marvin Routh, sergeant-at-arms, and O. E. Gibson, historian.

Commander James T. Shea of Howard Hall post, Circleville, and James Cook and E. C. Ebert attended the ceremony.

JEALOUSY rears its ugly head when Rosalind Russell decided that her husband, Don Ameche, is spending far too much of his time with his publisher's secretary, Kay Francis, in this scene from "The Feminine Touch," opening Saturday with a prelude at 10 p. m., then showing Sunday, Monday, Tuesday at the Clifton Theatre.

JAPS ASSAILED EMPIRE FORCES 'HOSTILE ACT' LINING UP FOR KNOCKOUT BLOW

New Zealanders Forcing Wider Wedge Through Axis Line

(Editor's Note: The London Daily Mail reported from Madrid that as a result of "heavy pressure" French Chief of State Marshal Henri Philippe Petain accepted German demands for air bases at Toulon and Bizerte to enable the Nazis to reinforce their military forces in Tripoli.

"Despite the declaration of President Roosevelt that negotiations between Japan and the United States still are going on, the United States, in presenting its terms practically as an ultimatum, has spoken the last word," the radio broadcast added.

"Japan time and again has made clear her position. The American points are diametrically opposed to this position, and Japan, for the sake of her national honor, cannot accept them. The United States alone is responsible for what seems to be almost inevitable now."

"Sort of Ultimatum"

Secretary of State Cordell Hull's latest memorandum was regarded by the Japanese as a "sort of ultimatum" and it was stressed that Japan for her part must maintain her basic policies.

Japanese quarters said they were not optimistic over the outcome, but that they nevertheless felt further negotiations still are possible.

Meanwhile, the newspaper said Britain is mobilizing some 500,000 troops, mostly Indians, on the southern Thailand frontiers.

The Tokyo radio charged the United States is planning to attack the Portuguese Azores and that Britain is preparing a blow against the Far Eastern Portuguese colony of Macao.

LONDON NAMES OBSERVER HELD BY DUCE'S MEN

LONDON, Nov. 29—The London Daily Herald said today it had learned that Major Buckley, an American army observer in Libya, has been captured by axis forces. The paper added he was not injured.

(Editor's Note: The Thailand premier declared yesterday that the United States and Britain had given assurance they would "respect Thailand's independence."

"If that means sending forces of occupation into the country (Thailand), that would certainly be a very serious position not only confronting Japanese troops but also threatening realization of mutual benefits under the trade treaties," the paper said.

The Times Advertiser said Japan has trade treaties with both French Indo-China and Thailand of a "very real and solid" nature and which "present to a very important extent the living of the Japanese people."

It added these agreements were of value only as long as Indo-China and Thailand are free from the "interference" of the A-B-C-D powers.

"Were these two countries to be protected by the alphabetical circle," the Times Advertiser said,

"the trade treaties would be a dead letter."

"It is absolutely necessary from Japan's point of view to keep these two countries intact outside their encircling arms."

New Zealanders Forcing Wider Wedge Through Axis Line

TANK STRUGGLE GREAT

Petain Permits Use Of Two French Bases For Nazi, Italian Planes

LONDON, Nov. 29—British military authorities said today that three enemy pockets still are holding out in the Sidi Omar area of the Libyan front near the Egyptian border.

CAIRO, Nov. 29—All British preparations for perhaps the decisive and final battle of the Libyan campaign were reported complete today as the British widened the wedge driven by New Zealand forces in the axis lines at Ed Duda, south of Tobruk.

The New Zealanders who fought their way to Ed Duda and there formed a junction with forces of the British garrison from Tobruk were declared to have staged a continuous non-stop advance that covered a period of eight hours.

This combined force, according to reports from the battle zone, struck directly at the heart of the axis forces commanded by Gen. Erwin Rommel west of Tobruk and Sidi Rezegh, the strategic pivotal keypoint which the British imperial forces seized earlier in the week.

Zero Hour Near

As the combined New Zealand and British force advanced, all reports indicated the zero hour for a decisive clash was drawing near.

(Editor's Note: A Berlin radio broadcast picked up by NBC said "positions in the gigantic tank battle in Libya are apt to change very rapidly."

"While the British armored units have the advantage of moving more or less as a unit and in one direction, Gen. Rommel has the difficult task of shifting his tanks very quickly from several points, which have little communication with each other, to new positions. In view of this strategic disadvantage, one cannot at present draw any final conclusion as to the final outcome of this great and violent battle."

Meanwhile, the German column which had attacked earlier along the Egyptian frontier was reported to have been broken up and rolled back.

Italian Unit Eliminated

A military spokesman also said that virtually the entire Italian Bologna division which had covered the east end of the Tobruk perimeter had been eliminated. He said the British were forging ahead southeast of the port.

The British Mediterranean fleet simultaneously reported it

U. S. Army's First Pilot Retires

FIRST pilot in the United States army air corps, Maj. Gen. Frank P. Lahm, now is retiring from active service. General Lahm is pictured at Randolph field, Texas, looking over a scale model of the air corps' "West Point of the Air" which was made possible partly through his vision and foresight. His last post was as commanding general of the Gulf Coast air corps training center.

Henry Rothman Dies At 70 After Half Century As Circleville Merchant

Henry Rothman, 70, a Circleville merchant for half a century, died Friday at his home, 215 South Pickaway Street, after illness of several years. Mr. Rothman, a native of Hungary, came to Circleville 52 years ago and had engaged in the dry goods and clothing store business nearly all of that time.

In accordance with Orthodox Jewish custom, the funeral and burial service was conducted Friday afternoon, Rabbi Leopold Greenwald of Beth Jacob Synagogue, Columbus, conducting the services. Mr. Rothman was a member of Beth Jacob Synagogue.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 29—Screen Star Olivia De Havilland was born in Japan 25 years ago. Her parents were British. She came to the United States when a small child.

Today, the beauteous Olivia was an American citizen, having received her final citizenship papers in federal court.

"I've felt like an American all the time, since I have lived in the country practically all of my life," she said. "But just the same, I've never been so happy as I am right now."

Student Of His Faith

He was a student of the Jewish faith and spent much of his time in later years in study of the history of the Jewish religion. In his eulogy of Mr. Rothman, Rabbi Greenwald, a friend of the family for some years, praised him for the soundness of his religious beliefs and his faithful observance of the most minute detail of all religious requirements even at the sacrifice of his store's business.

Mr. Rothman was a contributor to all Jewish organizations, making substantial donations from time to time to Jewish undertakings throughout the population, the high command announced today.

A German war communiqué said:

"Withdrawal of occupation forces from the center of Rostov was ordered for the purpose of carrying out recklessly the necessary reprisals against the population, which contrary to international law participated in the fighting in the area of the rear of the German troops."

SCUFFLE ENDS FATALY

FORT CUSTER, Mich., Nov. 29—Fort Custer officials ruled today that Private Henry Pryor, a Negro, must face a murder charge in federal court in connection with the fatal shooting of Private Charles Adams, Chicago Negro. Private Adams was shot during a scuffle in a barracks, officers reported. Pryor was reported to have told a board of inquiry that he and Adams had engaged in a "friendly" scuffle for possession of a gun.

OREGON YOUTH HAVING TOUGH TIME GETTING INTO ARMY OR NAVY

TOLEDO, Ore., Nov. 29—Paul Wallace of Toledo thought it was just a coincidence when his draft call from the Army happened to arrive the same day he enlisted in the Navy, but today he decided a jinx is following him around.

He wrote both services about the coincidence, and got back a deferment from his draft board and a cancellation of his enlistment from the Navy. That left him with nothing to do, so he tried again.

Again the deadly coincidence struck—simultaneous orders to report to the Army December 3 and to the Navy December 19. Wallace has visions of the brig or the guardhouse, whichever way he jumps.

PRICE CONTROL ACTION TO FACE SENATE DELAY

"Emasculated" Measure Goes Through House Without Vital Provisions

LICENSING PLAN FAILS

Any Form Of Wage Limit Turned Down; Final Vote Of 224-161 Listed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—Just four months after President Roosevelt sent a special message to Congress asking it to "act speedily" to prevent inflation, a drastically emasculated price control bill was before the senate today.

And in the upper house there were no indications that the Senate would heed the President's request for speed any more than the House. Officials of the banking committee said no arrangements had been made yet, and leaders said the measure would not be on the floor before January 1 at the earliest.

The long debated, controversial price control bill, as it passed the House by vote of 224 to 161, had its teeth extracted by a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats, placing it in a form which administration leaders termed "ineffective."

Before sending the measure to the Senate, the House by voice vote refused the provision permitting the price administrator to license business—a provision which the administrator, Leon Henderson, has termed "the backbone of enforcement of any price control."

The House also refused to retreat from provisions which limit farm price ceilings at below boom-year levels—provisions which Henderson has said "virtually ex-

ARKANSAS CHILD ABOUT THE BEST AS SEASON'S SHOTS ARE CONCERNED

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Nov. 29—Unless a proud father is somewhat overstating the case, 5-year-old Junior Hall is the youngest and at the same time one of the most expert hunters in the country.

The father, R. H. Hall Sr., of Hot Springs, reported two weeks ago that the child had bagged a 75-pound deer with a .22 caliber rifle which the elder Hall has already taught him to shoot.

The deer incident was generally put down as some sort of a fluke. Today, however, the father told friends how his son, on a duck hunting expedition, shot down two ducks—with the same .22 caliber rifle.

Germans Reported Driven From Eight Cities In Kalinin District

KUBYSHEV, U.S.S.R., Nov. 29—New Russian successes on the Southern and Central (Moscow) Fronts were reported today by Russian authorities who said Soviet bombers and dive-bombers as well as fighting planes are cooperating closely with Red army units.

A Soviet advance on the Kalinin sector northwest of Moscow was reported pushing forward rapidly amid fighting that increased in ferocity every hour. Authorities claimed the Germans had been driven from eight separate developed centers near Kalinin.

In the Rostov area, the Moscow radio announced, Russian forces crossed the Don River and occupied a strategic key point from which they threatened to cut off German troops from their communication lines.

On the Volokolamsk sector outside Moscow, the radio announced, the enemy advance has been slowed down.

(Editor's Note: The London Daily Mail said the Moscow radio broadcast a report that Russians attacking German positions at Rostov captured the old town of the town after a fierce fight.

The London Daily Telegraph said German Gen. Von Bock was hurling tanks armed with long-range flame-throwers and 400 Stuka dive-bombers at Moscow's outer fortifications. This account said squadrons of heavy bombers dropped high explosives and incendiary bombs which damaged more than 100 houses. Four persons were reported missing.

PHILIPPINES IN NEED OF ARMS, QUEZON WARNS

MANILA, Nov. 29—Blame for delay in vital defense preparations throughout the Philippine Islands was laid at the door of his critics today by President Manuel Quezon of the Philippine Commonwealth.

The delay, President Quezon declared in a radio speech, was just a coincidence when his draft call from the Army happened to arrive the same day he enlisted in the Navy, but today he decided a jinx is following him around.

FIRST TULAREMIA CASE LISTED IN ROSS COUNTY

CHILLICOTHE, Nov. 29—Ross County reported its first 1941 case of tularemia with the illness of Ora Freeman, of Chillicothe, who contracted the disease while handling rabbits.

President Quezon, re-elected to a second term earlier this month, deplored the fact that his critics had accused him of attempting to build a dictatorship.

Such criticism, he said, prevented him from exercising emergency powers voted by the national assembly in 1940. Moreover, Quezon asserted, the hue and cry set up by his critics had so alarmed Washington that President Roosevelt had asked him not to use his emergency powers unless requested to do so by Francis B. Sayre, U. S. high commissioner to the Philippines.

According to Domei, authoritative Japanese sources said establishment of an aerial patrol over the Burma Road by the United States would constitute "provocative armed aggression on the part of the A-B-C-D powers because such a move obviously would be undertaken by the United States only after consultation with other powers.

Artery Strategic One

The Burma Road is a vital route for transportation of war materials to the Chungking regime. As such, it is one of the most strategic arteries in the entire Far East.

Domei quoted authorities as asserting Japan, if the United States should establish such a patrol, "would be unable to overlook this extension of the American defensive zone" to the Far East.

They added it would "constitute a menace to Japan's position both politically and militarily, regardless of whether or not the United States only after consultation with other powers.

WEEK END MAY DECIDE CRISIS

Washington Believes Japs May Back Down, Await Developments

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—Official Washington today believes that the destiny of the Pacific may be determined this week end.

Tokyo is expected to make up its mind during the next 72 hours whether to defy the western powers or try to avert a showdown pending further developments in the European situation.

If Japan decides to risk a showdown now, it is believed the Japanese may move into Thailand during the next few days. In that event, authoritative sources in Washington expect British forces in Malaya to cross the border into Thailand to check the Japanese, if that happens, it is believed a major conflict in the Pacific will soon develop.

However, there is a school of thought in official quarters here which believes Japan will back down and await more decisive developments in the Russo-German conflict before hitching its fate completely to the axis star.

Walnut Cagers Win Big Upset

Jud Lanman's Lads Edge Favored Washington Quintet, 33-31; Ashville, Darby Keep Season's Loop Slates Unmarked

Jud Lanman's battling Walnut Township cage team which forced Ashville into three overtime periods a week ago only to lose by a sudden death bucket upset the dole Friday night by defeating Washington Township's capable varsity in a 33-31 game.

The fray was a battle from start to finish, Washington holding a single point edge at the half time, 17-16, but failing to hold it the remainder of the game. Field goals were even at 11 each but Walnut showed a little more ability from the foul line, scoring 11 out of 20 tosses while Washington completed nine out of 21 chances.

The Walnut reserves made it a clean sweep with a 28-6 advantage.

The Walnut-Washington fray played at Walnut was the outstanding one of the evening although the county league schedule saw Ashville and Darby Township retain their clean slates at the expense of New Holland and Scioto, respectively.

Ashville topped the Bulldogs on the New Holland court by a 43-22 score, 43 personal fouls being called—23 on New Holland and 20 on Ashville. The Bulldogs lost four athletes via the personal route and the Bronchos saw three cagers waved to the bench for the same reason.

Ashville reserves were on top 20-13.

Up at Darby Coach Roach's tall and capable lads overcame a huge first half deficit to gain the upper hand over the Commercial Point outfit. Scioto led 22-10 at halftime, but was able to score only three points in the last two quarters, while Darby ran up 19.

Ashville and Darby have each won three games without a blemish.

Williamsport returned to the victory column with a 23-11 victory over Jackson on the Deer-creek court. The Williamsport lads held a long lead at the half and coasted to the victory.

Jackson reserves evened things with a 16-8 margin.

Saltcreek, which played its league game Wednesday against Pickaway, dropped a pair out of the county to Laurelvile, the varsity being edged 22-19 and the reserves, 20-16.

BRUCE SMITH VOTED AS OUTSTANDING '41 STAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Bruce Smith today was designated as the outstanding college football player of 1941.

The fleet University of Minnesota captain was selected in a poll of sports writers and broadcasters and will receive the Heisman Memorial Trophy, presented annually by the Downtown Athletic Club of New York.

Smith received 554 votes for the honor, only nine more than Angelo Bertelli of Notre Dame.

Bill Prince, chairman of the committee in charge of the award, said the voting was closest in history of the Heisman trophy. Next in line were Frankie Albert of Stanford and Frank Sinkwich of Georgia.

Others among the first ten included Bill Dudley of Virginia, Endicott Peabody II of Harvard, Special Delivery Jones of Pittsburgh, Bob Westfall of Michigan, Steve Lach of Duke and Jack Crain of Texas.

Smith will receive the Heisman trophy December 9 in ceremonies at the Downtown A. C.

CLOSE SERIES ENDED

Ray Coleman is back at the helm as head coach, so Lancaster is expecting to have a strong basketball team this winter. The initial test for the Golden Gales, football champions of the Central Ohio League, will be Tuesday evening on the Circleville Athletic Club court against Roy Black's Circleville High Tigers. The game will be played in the C. A. C. providing owners of the building have their heating equipment installed in time to be in operation Tuesday. Otherwise, the game will be played at the high school or at later date.

Coleman was in the south during the last winter and did not have anything to do with mentoring the Gales. This year he is back in the harness and has Stan Pratt and Don Harwood as his assistants.

McNaughten Capable

The Gales will stress speed, height and ball handling in all practices to date, the youths in his charge showing improvement. Monday night's drill is not expected to be a difficult one, but the coach expects at that time to designate his starters. However, the fact that one youth gets the nod over another doesn't mean that he will be in the lineup long, because several of the boys on the bench are good enough to be on the varsity.

WHAT IT'S ABOUT

THE purpose of the army we're training is, of course, military defense. But it needn't be confined entirely to that field. One of the most inspiring things about the whole performance is the educational program undertaken by Lieut. Gen. Benjamin Lear for 125,000 officers and men of the Second Army.

It will run through a period of three months. Subjects included will be American history, geography, international trade, the United States Constitution, various political systems compared with our own, and the international conditions leading up to the present war. There will not be anything superficial about this instruction, either. The teaching will be done by college graduates with college teaching experience, some of them now in the army and other borrowed from civil life. Among them are Yale professors who will serve without pay.

If this experiment is judged successful the program will be followed by the rest of the army. It is hard to think of any reason why it shouldn't be successful. The only strange thing about it is that the plan has never been tried before in the American army.

The Russians have long had such instruction. There are said to be no Russian soldiers who have not been taught the history of their country and the principles of their government. Likewise with the Germans. Americans do not want the propaganda handed out in those countries, but every American soldier should know enough about his country to realize what he is expected to be fighting for.

CHRISTMAS-SEALING T. B.

HERE is an interesting and true story behind the 1941 Christmas Seals. The lighthouse pictured on them is a symbol of protection. The artist who designed it, Steven Dohanos, was once a victim of tuberculosis. Prompt diagnosis of his case gave hope of cure. He followed the prescribed treatment faithfully, resisting the temptation now and then to return to work too soon. Eventually he was completely well and strong enough to do a normal amount of work and enjoy other normal activities.

Lighthouses are built to warn or guide ships and airplanes. They would fail of their purpose if pilots ignore them. Medical science has learned much about tuberculosis and has put up lighthouses for the guidance of all the people.

"There need be no deaths at all from tuberculosis in this country," says John J. O'Neill, science writer for the New York Herald Tribune. "Thirty years ago one

HODGE-PODGE REPORT

WASHINGTON — The five members of Emergency Railroad Board ran headlong into some surprises when they called on the President before making another attempt to solve the wage dispute which threatens to tie up all the railroads of the country.

One surprise was that Roosevelt knew all about their closely guarded secret. This secret was that their original report, adamantly rejected by the Brotherhoods, was a last-minute compromise and that none of the mediators really approved of it. In fact that only agreed to it at the last minute to avoid a split decision.

Another surprise was that the President knew how bitterly the mediators had wrangled among themselves.

Most of the mediators were professors: Thomas Reed Powell of Harvard Law School; Walter L. Morse, dean of Oregon University Law School; James C. Bonbright of Columbia University; Joseph H. Willits, Rockefeller Foundation; and Houston Thompson, Washington attorney and ex-chairman of the Federal Trade Commission.

Despite the scholarly positions of the conferees, however, the atmosphere was anything but calm and cloistered. At one time the professors were so hot under the collar that several of them almost came to blows.

The Railroad Brotherhoods knew all about this squabbling, and this was one of the big reasons for rejecting the report. The Brotherhoods also saw to it that Roosevelt learned about the dissension.

According to the information given to him, the board battled through the whole night before a reluctant compromise report was agreed on. That agreement was not reached until 8 a.m., the deadline when the report had to be in the hands of the printer.

One time during the night-long wrangle one of the mediators snapped, "Well, it looks like it's aspirin, coffee or liquor, depending on your taste."

Throughout the battle, Prof. Morse, chairman of the board, pleaded with his colleagues for a unanimous report. He warned that a dissent would be worse than no report at all. In the end his advice won, and the hodge-podge compromise was put together.

UNWANTED COMPROMISE

The root of the Brotherhoods' unyielding opposition to the wage recommendations was the wide disparity in the bases for the proposed increases.

The board gave the so-called non-operating employees a flat boost of nine cents an hour. But when it came to the operating groups the board switched to a 7½ percent increase. This meant only about 5 cents an hour increase for lower-paid person died every three and a half minutes. This figure has been cut to eight and a half minutes now. The disease has dropped from first to seventh place as a cause of death in the last seven years."

Much of that progress has been financed by the Christmas Seal money. Whether you buy only one stamp or a hundred, you will help to seal the doom of T. B.

Quite a fine present for the time.

Sniffed a little as a result of trying to sit out the basketball game at the C. A. C. Unfortunately that the gas connections could not be made in time, but heat will be there for the next game. Wallace fired a third time and the rabbit stumbled and fell, but got up and continued running. Wallace also ran and finally caught the bunny. Wallace says his shot hit the rabbit. Clark contends the rabbit sprained an ankle when it stumbled.

And, speaking of show windows, reminds me to remind you that they are crammed with the kind of merchandise you buy at this time of year. Presents for everyone and plenty for yourself as well. While prices generally have been moving upward for a long time much of the merchandise on display now is as reasonably priced as last year. Take a good look around town at your earliest convenience, and get that Christmas shopping underway. Most merchants say that the picking may be pretty slim for the late shoppers this season. DIET AND HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

• The irritable colon is the disorder of digestion that the medical profession is called upon most frequently to treat. The colon is the large bowel. Irritable colon is sometimes called colitis, mucous colitis, spastic bowel, spastic constipation.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only and then only through his column.

It is a disease of civilization and especially of highly industrialized civilization. "Today few succeed in a business or profession without 'living it.' The successful man takes his occupation to the dinner table with him, takes it to the concert and frequently works out knotty problems while wide-eyed in bed at 2:00 A.M. The modern sales manager is urged by his superiors to keep up his sales and in turn must urge his assistants, often against his will, to function under terrific pressure."

The physician who approaches this problem with sympathy, understanding and the willingness to spend time and thought on the patient can make happy, useful citizens of those with irritable colon.

Not many men are able to stand the strain for three or four years without developing some form of nervous indigestion because the digestive canal is most responsive to storms in the higher nervous centers.

Wrong Diets

These irritations also often have their source in the diet. Too often in our modern civilization of high pressure advertising the wrong person is persuaded to eat the wrong diet with too much roughage and not enough meat.

The food faddist almost invariably wants to keep us away from meat, which of all foods is the easiest for the human animal to digest.

By the same token, the human digestive canal is not particularly well adapted to eating nothing but large portions of vegetables, valuable as these may be for nutrition.

The symptoms of the irritable bowel come from spasms or distension. All too often, with the dull sense of fullness and aching, the patient gets the idea that he should clean the bowel out daily

and gets into the cathartic habit.

This simply adds to his troubles

and makes his sense of fullness

worse and his irritable colon more irritable.

Treatment

For treatment, emphasis should be put on two things: First: management of the way of living, and second: diet. Sympathetic rearrangement of the way of living, pointing out the elements of strain, is by all odds the most important feature in these cases. Plenty of rest is essential. Good sleep daily, exercise and a determined effort to take our daily work calmly and not to take it to bed with us can be accomplished.

The diet should be free from irritating foods and low in residue. Fruit, vegetables and milk should be avoided at the start. After improvement has occurred, they may be added.

Heat relieves spasm, and a hot bath and one or two glasses of hot water containing a little soda or lemon juice on arising are frequently of benefit.

The physician who approaches this problem with sympathy, understanding and the willingness to spend time and thought on the patient can make happy, useful citizens of those with irritable colon.

Answer: In most cases it can be assumed that in a person of this age, the finding of a trace of sugar in the urine means diabetes.

It is much more dangerous to kid yourself along than it is to undergo treatment right away.

At any rate the condition should be thoroughly investigated. The sure way is to take a blood sugar tolerance test which can be given by any doctor in practice.

The symptoms of the irritable bowel come from spasms or distension. All too often, with the dull sense of fullness and aching, the patient gets the idea that he should clean the bowel out daily

and gets into the cathartic habit.

This simply adds to his troubles

and makes his sense of fullness

worse and his irritable colon more irritable.

QUESTION AND ANSWERS

L. E. D., Detroit, Mich.:—Does it necessarily mean that a young person in the early twenties has sugar diabetes if a small amount of sugar shows in the urine?"

Hundreds Enjoy Parade Opening Circleville Christmas Season

LUTHERAN FLOAT JUDGED WINNER IN COMPETITION

Five Others Participate
In Big Procession That
Features Santa

They cheered and crowded into the streets, stood on the bumpers of automobiles or wiggled their way to a spot where they could see—those many hundred boys and girls who came to witness Circleville's Christmas parade Friday night.

Streets were decorated in their usual Yuletide fashion and the downtown store windows looked as though Santa Claus already had stopped in Circleville.

Feature of Friday night's program was the Christmas parade, which formed on Court Street in front of the high school building and moved into the downtown area. Six amateur floats, three musical units and a sizable delegation of costumed individuals were included. Circleville's High School band led the parade followed by Santa Claus, who rode on the side of a big red truck. The floats, the Chillicothe Veterans of Foreign Wars Junior Drum Corps, the Circleville Junior band and costumed boys and girls followed.

The floats were judged at Court and High Streets immediately after the parade. Top honors went to Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood and the Luther League, whose float, depicting "The First Noel," was pulled by a team of oxen. The oxen are owned by John Dresbach of Circleville Route 1. They are seven years old and came from Vinton County. The two of them weigh 2,700 pounds. The float portrayed the birth of Christ with a donkey, sheep and a calf included in the stable scene.

Methodist Second

Second best float in the parade was that of the Methodist Epworth League, according to the judges. The float, also portraying the birth of Christ, carried five girls, two boys and two sheep.

F. D. R. ON ALERT AS HE STARTS SOUTHERN TRIP

ABOARD PRESIDENTIAL SPECIAL EN ROUTE TO NEWMAN, Ga., Nov. 29—President Roosevelt was followed step by step today through the south with last minute developments in the Far Eastern crisis that has placed armed forces of the United States and Japan on the "alert."

Progressively, on his way to Warm Springs, Ga., for a holiday of questionable length, the President received first hand reports from Washington on a situation west of the Pacific Coast that is admittedly serious.

Down through Virginia and the Carolinas at every railroad operating stop, telephone linemen ran a hastily rigged telephone wire into the private car of the President's special train so he might be available for a person to person conversation with Secretary of State Cordell Hull, or other key officials in Washington who are watching power moves by Japan in the Far East area.

Cheated twice of a Thanksgiving celebration at his "other home" in Warm Springs by domestic strike threats and international complications, Mr. Roosevelt was headed for the famed southern Infantile Paralysis Foundation which he founded to carve turkey at a "third Thanksgiving" tonight regardless of consequences elsewhere in the world.

TRIO OF ASSAULT AND BATTERY CASES FILED

Charges were filed against Ramsey by Brown. The arrests were made by Sheriff Charles Radcliffe.

Harold Estep of Commercial Point was fined $25 and costs on an affidavit filed by Russell Melvin, also of Commercial Point. He was committed to County Jail pending payment of the fine. Melvin claimed that Estep struck him when the latter was under the influence of alcohol. The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriff R. A. Armstrong.

PRICE CONTROL ACTION TO FACE SENATE DELAY

"Emasculated" Measure Goes Through House Without Vital Provisions

Power Restricted

Likewise, the House drastically restricted the government's power to buy and sell in the market, which Henderson said was "vital."

The House also refused to write any form of wage controls into the measure, and voted to create a five-man presidentially appointed senate-confirmed board of review with power to veto any ceilings imposed by the administrator.

As passed, the bill would establish a price administrator at $10,000 a year, appointed by the President and confirmed by the senate.

The administrator, subject to overruling by the board of review, would be empowered to place ceilings on any industrial prices or rents in defense areas which he found to be inflationary.

Farm Ceiling Out

He would not, however, be allowed to impose any ceilings on farm prices at below 110 percent of parity, the prevailing price on October 1, or the 1919-1929 average, whichever of those three alternatives was highest.

In computing ceilings for industrial prices, the administrator is directed to give "due consideration" to the price of the commodity between October 1 and 15, but he is not bound to set them as of those dates.

A person feels he is injured by any ceiling, he has a right to appeal to the board of review, and later, to the courts if the board does not grant his plea.

The bill sets forth maximum penalties of a $5,000 fine and two years in jail for violating the act.

SCARLET FEVER CASES NUMBER SIX IN MONTH

Six cases of scarlet fever were reported to the county health office during November, according to a report submitted to the county board of health Friday afternoon by Dr. A. D. Blackburn, county health commissioner, and Miss Margaret Hunsicker, county health nurse.

All these cases were in Harrison and Madison Townships. The first case reported was a child in South Bloomfield school. Quarantine measures were taken and daily inspection of the school children was made. Several children of the school with suspicious symptoms were excluded from school, but no other cases of scarlet fever developed.

Next case of scarlet fever appeared in Ashville school. This case was quarantined and daily inspections of the children in the school made, but no new cases developed.

Three cases developed in the Madison Township school, two in one family and one in the other. Even though they were mild cases they were quarantined.

The sixth case was reported this week, the child being a brother of the first case, necessitating the quarantining of the family.

In the three schools where scarlet fever was reported, 12 field visits were made and about 300 children inspected.

During November four field visits were made by county health authorities for purposes of investigation, two refractions were made and one pair of glasses furnished.

In the tuberculosis program, two skin tests and two X-rays were made.

JAPS ASSAILED EMPIRE FORCES 'HOSTILE ACT'

Nevertheless, it was believed there still was an open door for further negotiations with Washington.

(According to a Tokyo radio broadcast picked up by NBC, Japanese newspaper proclaimed in banner headlines that the "United States Has Broken The Peace."

(Despite the declaration of President Roosevelt that negotiations between Japan and the United States still are going on, the United States, in presenting its terms practically as an ultimatum, has spoken the last word," the radio broadcast added.

"Japan time and again has made clear her position. The American points are diametrically opposed to this position, and Japan, for the sake of her national honor, cannot accept them. The United States alone is responsible for what seems to be almost inevitable now."

Sort of Ultimatum"

Secretary of State Cordell Hull's latest memorandum was regarded by the Japanese as a "sort of ultimatum" and it was stressed that Japan for her part must maintain her basic policies.

Japanese quarters said they were not optimistic over the outlook, but that they nevertheless felt further negotiations still are possible.

Meanwhile, the newspaper Nichi Nichi reported Britain is mobilizing some 500,000 troops, mostly Indians, on the southern Thailand frontiers.

The Tokyo radio charged the United States is planning to attack the Portuguese Azores and that Britain is preparing a blow against the Far Eastern Portuguese colony of Macao.

LONDON, Nov. 29—Annihilation of a British motorized brigade and capture of its commanding general were claimed by the Italian high command today in an announcement which reported that Japan for her part must maintain her basic policies.

Japan for her part must maintain her basic policies.

It added these agreements were of value only as long as Indo-China and Thailand are free from the "interference" of the A-B-C-D powers.

"We're these two countries to be protected by the alphabetical circle," the Times Advertiser said.

"the trade treaties would be a dead letter.

"It is absolutely necessary from Japan's point of view to keep these two countries intact outside their encircling arms."
